

I strongly feel the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's telephone privacy law protection. Before Indiana's law was enacted we received approximately 3 to 4 calls a night that were unwanted calls. Even though we would tell them to take us off the call list it was to no avail. Now we receive maybe 1 every 4 months. It is very disturbing to receive the solicitation calls, they come when we eat, are in bed trying to sleep, or watching a favorite television show. My husband works nights and I work days and we see each other about 2 days a week when he is off, he is a correctional officer, and that is the only time we have to talk or discuss things. It is very disruptive when we get those unwanted calls. I will be extremely unhappy if Indiana's law is overturned by the above proceeding by the FCC. Please do not do so. Thank you Arthur and Loretta Mau.
